

CARNM's Realtor of the Year - Todd Clarke CCIM

Todd Clarke, CCIM is the recipient of the Commercial Association of Realtors - New Mexico's first realtor of the Year Award.

The award presentation took place during the January 30th meeting of the membership at the Marriott Hotel in Albuquerque.

Randy Eakin, CCIM and Realtor of the Year Recipient of the Albuquerque Board of Realtors in 1983 chaired the committee, made up of past recipients who have become members of the Commercial Association.

In his remarks, Randy criteria both mandatory and need for the recipient to dignity and grace" and "be proud to talk about with a about his or her

Randy indicated there were committee found in Todd this prestigious award. leadership, professionalism, (salesmanship), and Todd officially entered the 1990. In six short years, he Albuquerque Board of Information Network, The Network, and the NM term as president.

Of course, Todd is generally catalyst for bringing together the creation of CARNM. became CARNM's first Todd is sometimes referred because of his extensive background in computer technology. He is largely responsible for the creation and implementation of CARNM's web-site and the soon to be released CDROM which will include internet software and color aerial photographs of the City of Albuquerque.

Randy concluded that Todd is a "role model for REALTORS of the 21st Century."

explained the selection suggested, indicating the "wear the award with someone each of us would Member of the public" achievements.

four key elements the that led them to elect him to Those elements were industry achievement altruism.

real estate profession in had been active in the Realtors, the Leasing Commercial Information CCIM chapter, including a recognized as being the the task force which led to After the task force, Todd president in 1995.

to as a 'computer geek'